

Our focus has been, and will continue to be, on doing everything we can to protect the interests of the employees and investors who have been devastated by WorldCom's troubles.