

In memory of 9-11 victims, we must be the Americans that we were before the attack-proud citizens. Those lost died courageously and with a fight for life and national security. Songs of love are elevated in memory of the innocent victims who will never cease to be remembered and commemorated in our state.

Through the Verdi Requiem we continue to exercise our commitment to the soldiers of war. With solemn hearts and full voices, the people of Mississippi give honor collectively.

Those responsible for the attack look on us in vain for any trace of vexation but the State of Mississippi illuminates patriotism in many hymns that have been composed in remembrance of the Mississippi soldiers.

Those lost are also honored on capital groups with trees of strength that will live on for the families and citizens of Mississippi.
