

Statement from Governor Ronnie Musgrove regarding 2001 KIDS COUNT report:

“The children of Mississippi are our most valuable resource, and the work we do to keep them healthy and strong will pay off in later years. The results of this study are confirmation that we’re making a difference for our children. I’m excited about what this means for their future, and for the future of our state.”