

I have served as Assistant and Associate Professor of Social Science in the Department of Educational Foundations and Leadership in the School of Educations at Jackson State University for the last eight years. I obtained my Bachelors' degree in Education at Nairobi University, Kenya, Masters, in International Affairs, Graduate Certificate in Women Studies, and Ph.D. in Social Science at Ohio University, Athens Ohio. From my experiences of living in different countries I bring a different perspective and diverse experiences to Jackson State classrooms and community.

My research interests include gender issues, education, and issues in social studies.
