The awards will be presented by the Honorable Governor Ronnie Musgrove, in conjunction with the Excellence in Mississippi/Mississippi Quality Awards (MQA) conference/award ceremony in April of 2002.

Purpose: These awards are designed to continue building positive relationships between the Governor's office and Mississippi Businesses, provide recognition, enhance positive perceptions of the public toward Mississippi businesses, and motivate organizations to continue their pursuit of performance excellence, while introducing them to and encouraging them to participate in the Mississippi Quality Awards Program; a program based on the Criteria for Performance Excellence from the Baldrige National Quality Awards program.

Eligibility: Any large or small business in manufacturing or service industries, whether publicly or privately held may apply.

Financial and Market Results Criteria: The criteria for the Awards are intended to provide winning organizations an opportunity to gain a high level of visibility for achieving breakthrough improvements in Financial and Market Results (shaded section on page 3). These Criteria are taken from the MQA Criteria for Performance Excellence booklet (Based on the Baldrige National Quality Award). Additional guidance and a full description of that program can be found in the MQA Criteria booklet, which can be obtained by calling 601-432-6480 or by visiting <http://www.sbcjc.cc.ms.us/progs.html>

NOTES:

N1. Customer group and market segment requirements (P.1b[1]) might include on-time delivery, low defect levels, price reductions, electronic communication, and after-sales service.

N2. Communication mechanisms (P.1b[2]) should be two-way and might be in person, electronic, by telephone, and/or written. For many organizations, these mechanisms might be changing.

N3. Factors (P.2a[2]) might include differentiators such as price leadership, design services, e-services, geographic proximity, and warranty and product options.

N4. Challenges (P.2b) might include electronic communication with businesses and end-use consumers, reduced product introduction cycle times, mergers and acquisitions, global marketing competition, customer retention, staff retention, and value chain integration.

N5. Performance improvement (P.2c) is an assessment dimension used in the Scoring System to evaluate the maturity of organizational approaches and deployment (see Scoring System).

Summarize your organization's key financial and marketplace performance results by market segments, as appropriate. Include appropriate comparative data. Explain how the results reported relate to your overall mission and/or primary improvement objectives as appropriate.

Provide data and information to answer the following questions:

a. Financial and Market Results

- 1) What are your current levels and trends in key measures/indicators of financial performance, including aggregate measures of financial return and/or economic value, as appropriate?
- 2) What are your current levels and trends in key measures/indicators of marketplace performance, including market share/position, business growth, and new markets entered, as appropriate?

NOTES:

N1. Responses to a.1 might include aggregate measures such as return on investment (ROI), asset utilization, operating margins, profitability, profitability by market/customer segment, liquidity, debt to equity ratio, value added per employee, and financial activity measures.

N2. New markets entered (a.2) might include offering Web-based services.

Guidelines for Responding

The following information, guidelines, and example relate to effective and complete reporting of results.

1. Focus on the most critical business results.

Results reported should cover the most important requirements for your business success, highlighted in your Organizational Profile. Emphasis should be placed on results related to strategic initiatives.

2. Note the meaning of the four key requirements for effective reporting of results data:

- trends to show directions of results and rates of change
- performance levels on a meaningful measurement scale
- comparisons to show how results compare with those of other, appropriately selected organizations
- breadth and importance of results to show that all important results are included

3. Include trend data covering actual periods for tracking trends.

No minimum period of time is specified for trend data. Trends might span five years or more for some results. For important results, new data should be included even if trends and comparisons are not yet well established.

4. Use a compact format—graphs and tables.

Many results can be reported compactly by using graphs and tables. Graphs and tables should be labeled for easy interpretation. Results over time or compared with others should be "normalized," i.e., presented in a way (such as use of ratios) that takes into account various size factors. For example, reporting safety trends in terms of lost work days per 100 employees would be more meaningful than total lost work days if the number of employees has varied over the time period or if you are comparing your results to organizations differing in size.

5. Integrate results into the body of the text.

Discussion of results and the results themselves should be close together in an Award application. Trends that show a significant positive or negative change should be explained. Use figure numbers that correspond to the text. For example, the third figure would be Figure 3. (See the example in the figure that follows.)

The following graph illustrates data an organization might present as part of a response. In the Organizational Profile, the organization has indicated market penetration as a key strategy.

Figure 3

Using the graph, the following characteristics of clear and effective data reporting are illustrated:

- A figure number is provided for reference to the graph in the text.
- Both axes and units of measure are clearly labeled.
- Trend lines report data for a key strategic initiative.
- Results are presented for several years.
- Appropriate comparisons are clearly shown.
- The company shows, using a single graph, that its three divisions separately track market penetration.

To help interpret Scoring, the following comments on the graphed results would be appropriate:

- The current overall company performance level is excellent. This conclusion is supported by the comparison with industry competitors and with a "world-class" level.
- The company shows excellent improvement trends.
- Division A is the current performance leader—showing sustained high performance and a slightly positive trend. Division B shows rapid improvement. Its current performance is near that of the best industry competitor but trails the "world-class" level.
- Division C—a new division—is having early problems. (The company briefly should explain these early problems.)
