FROM: RILEY
SUBJECT: PETAL SCHOOL DISTRICT: HOOKING THEM UP WITH JOHN GRISHAM
DATE 8/27/03
CC: FILE

Nadine Coleman with the Petal School District has contacted me requesting our help in a project they are trying to get off of the ground. (NOTE: She is serving on our financing early childhood education task force.) They are going to try to get the entire community of Petal to read the same book as a means of instilling the idea that parents' reading is the best way to get kids involved in reading. They are modeling this program after a similar project in Chicago a few years ago.

Nadine and the superintendent want the community to read John Grisham's Skipping Christmas. Nadine has asked me if we could help them hook up with Grisham with the hope that he might even visit Petal sometime this Fall for a book signing or an event to promote the reading of Skipping Christmas.

Nadine specifically wants contact info for Grisham. I've checked with Marilyn and she said he doesn't have contact info in Oxford anymore. Marilyn has a fax number for Grisham in Virginia, but she thinks it is to his office in his house. Is it okay if I give the fax number to Nadine for them to send a written request/invitation to Grisham via the fax? If you want me to provide some other contact info to them, please indicate so below.

Nadine also said any personal steps you could take to help them would be greatly appreciated, possibly a note or a phone call to Grisham on Petal's behalf after they submit their request to him. Please indicate if you would be willing to do either:

If your calendar allowed and if you wanted to, we could also get you to the event since it will be promoting reading and its critical role in our students' learning.
