Subject: Use of the official State Seal

Barcharts is the world's largest producer of Quick Study™ student guides for use in educational institutions. We have recently begun work to produce an historical guide of the 50 states for general use, specifically the high school arena. Included on the chart is a replica of your official state seal, similar to that which appears on your web site, with a description of its contents.

In accordance with your requirements, we request permission for the use of this replica of the seal in our publication. Of course any required attributions or disclaimers would be noted on the guide.

We thank you in advance for your timely response to this request as production of the USA guide is imminent. Please forward this request to the necessary department. Visit our company at www.quickstudycharts.com

Respectfully,

James M. Ashley
