Governor Musgrove Appoints Thelma Brittain as Acting Director of the Department of Human Services

(Jackson, MS) – Governor Ronnie Musgrove today appointed Thelma Brittain as acting director of the Mississippi Department of Human services.

“Thelma Brittain started at the county level and brings over twenty years of experience to this position,” Musgrove said. “She has the management experience needed for the Department to continue to put our children first by providing critical services such as child support enforcement, economic assistance, and family and children’s services.”

Brittain is a graduate of Wellesley College. She currently serves as Deputy Administrator for Programs at the Department of Human Services. She has previously worked as an Eligibility Worker, Quality Assurance Program Manager and as County Director in Madison County.
