

GOVERNOR'S DAILY NEWS SUMMARY

Tuesday, February 19, 2002

Clarion Ledger Jackson, Mississippi

Tunica County: 10 years of gaming still paying off

EBT system postponed

Lender fraud bill heads to governor

Hyundai engine plant possible

Work-force training cuts considered

Plant's closing brings job fairs

Editorials

Redistricting: Of all parties, voters are left out

Ayers: 'Final' ruling almost anti-climactic

School board: Mayor, council can't find someone?

'Tort reform' for nursing homes will not help the elderly

Sun Herald Biloxi, Mississippi

Taxpayers getting stuck with the bill for lobbyists

Northeast Mississippi Daily Journal Tupelo, Mississippi

Legislature give bankers relief from courts

BOBBY HARRISON: Musgrove feels pain over deep education cuts

The Commercial Appeal Memphis, Tenn.

Schools face $93,000 more in cuts

Higher tuition ahead, college board member predicts

Hattiesburg American Hattiesburg, Mississippi

Bills would strengthen ballot box

It's time to close the book for good on the Ayers case

It's not too late to save trust fund

Meridian Star Meridian Mississippi

Education always at the top of the list'

Natchez Democrat Natchez, Mississippi

Enterprise-Journal McComb, Mississippi

Stateline.org

The Clarksdale Press Register

The Bolivar Commercial

TORT REFORM: The Senate cops out on its duty

The Greenwood Commonwealth Greenwood, Mississippi

Musgrove is no pushover

Mississippi Business Journal

Magnolia Report

Haley Barbour in DeSoto County: 'Yeah, I'm thinking about running for governor in 2003'

Barbour speaks to DeSoto GOP

The New York Times

The Washington Post