

With an economy that's wireless, our students must have the necessary technological skills to compete.

I am very proud of the ExplorNet students in DeSoto County. These students are using their skills to provide the technology for the generations coming behind them.

With the help of these students, we will not only reach our goal of providing an internet-accessible computer in each classroom by the end of this year, but we will also give these students the training that is vital for their future.
