

Every application submitted to the governor's office was reviewed with the best interests of the Delta region in mind, as well as the intent of Congress.