

Lee Ann Mayo

The Commission on Police Pursuit is conducting a comprehensive study of the Police Pursuit policy. The commission will report to the Gov. and the Leg in January. As a part of their comprehensive report they will address the issue of what parts of the policy can be made public without jeopardizing the effectiveness of law enforcement. Decision about changes to the current policy will be after careful consideration of the recommendation of the commission.