

“The Attorney General’s office is in charge of the investigation of the allegations at Columbia and Oakley. We have full confidence in the ability of the attorney general, the Department of Justice and the Department of Human Services to ensure the safety and security of our children.”