Further Information

The Medgar and Myrlie Evers Research Scholars Program encourages and supports research in the history of civil and human rights at the Mississippi Department of Archives and History. The program seeks to nurture upper-level graduate student and faculty scholars at the beginning of their academic careers, in order to increase their life-long interest in, and promote continued academic and public appreciation of, Medgar Evers' life and work, the Civil Rights Movement in Mississippi, and the struggle for human rights overall. Primary source research will be conducted in residence at the William F. Winter Archives and History Building in Jackson, Mississippi.

One competitive scholarship of $4,000.00 will be awarded. The stipend may be used to cover travel, housing, and other expenses related to research during a two-week minimum stay in 2016. (Ineligible costs include computer equipment, hardware, or software and childcare.) The stipend will be paid in increments, with the final payment conditional upon submission of a summary report of research findings; the recipient will be asked to submit receipts to substantiate expenses.

While at MDAH the Evers Scholar will make an informal presentation, open to the public, about their research.
